

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

From: Heidi Bosch Romano

Following is a sample of a final production pack that was used to make one of the New Adventures of Captain Planet episodes called "Greed Is the Word."

After the script was finalized, the cartoon characters and props were created, a storyboard was made showing all the action, dialogue and camera work that is necessary to make the final cartoon. This sample shows a "slugged" final storyboard with has the final footage length estimated from the studio recording. The script has the producer's original sketches and notes for the animators to use. The fax is from the show's creator to the producer giving him his final notes for the short "tag" the plays after the episode airs. The other fax shows the producer's notes and original sketches that were incorporated into the final cartoon.

Sample: Hanna-Barbera Cartoons, Inc. 1995
